

System Plus Consulting is a French company specialized in Reverse Costing, performing manufacturing cost analysis from physical analysis of electronics components, strategic consulting to a worldwide customer base. Covering emerging and disruptive silicon and micro manufacturing markets, the group supports companies, and R&D organizations by delivering comprehensive analysis that helps them understand the technology and cost trends critical to their business.

System Plus Consulting is part of Yole Group of companies with offices in France, Germany, Japan, Greater China, Korea and the U.S.A.

JOB DESCRIPTION

As part of our activities development, we are currently recruiting a FullStack Software Engineer for a position located in our offices in Nantes.

In this role, you will be in charge of developing innovative solutions for our new set of tools and maintaining existing costing software aimed at helping our different internal services and customers.

In addition to your technical skills in development, you will have the opportunity to be part of complex and ambitious projects and participate in the definition of needs (specifications) and have direct exchanges with providers and our core business experts.

RESPONSABILITIES

As a junior FullStack developer, you will be in charge of:

- Building & developing new features following Agile specifications
- Adapting solutions to be scalable, to match performances and to be maintainable
- Contributing to RESTful API, modern Front-end stack, Django website.
- Maintaining and evolving existing Excel, Access costing tools
- Reporting progress to your manager and analysing issues ahead
- Working in autonomy to successfully achieve projects
- Writing code documentation and following standard guidelines
- Testing your code and writing scenario for automatic test

EDUCATION / EXPERIENCE

- University Degree (Master, Engineer) in software engineering/development
- 5 years of Experience and skills in software development (back-end and/or front-end) with Java, Python, JavaScript, VBA, Spring framework, database (PostgreSQL, Access), Excel technology...
- Interest in economics and cost related subjects in electronic business
- Communication and presentation skills
- Team player and organizational skills
- Proficiency in English speaking / writing is needed

Merci d'adresser un CV et une lettre de motivation à recruiting@systemplus.fr